

Job Title: Lower School Teaching Faculty

Start Date: August 2022

Salary: Based on experience

Reports Directly to: Director of the Early Learning Center and Lower School

Department: Lower School

Antilles School is seeking dynamic and talented teachers to join a committed team of educators in a collaborative environment that places a high value on educating the whole child. Ideal candidates are passionate and self-motivated professionals, prepared to teach and nurture young children and support a wide range of learning styles and abilities. An understanding of and a commitment to, a culturally and ethnically diverse population is essential.

Responsibilities include maintaining a child-friendly classroom and age-appropriate routines to teach the core subjects of Reading, Writing, Spelling, Grammar, Math, Science, and Social Studies. The teacher is expected to have a thorough knowledge and understanding of the school's curriculum and the developmental stages of their students. Character development and the social emotional development of each child are as equally important as their academic development. Communicating effectively with families and working in partnership with them, is vital to each child's success in the classroom. Collaboration with peers and a positive work ethic are expected. Teachers have assigned duties and also need to be willing to help out as needed.

Qualifications include:

- Bachelor's degree or higher, required
- Previous successful classroom experience, required
- Demonstrated command of child development and current best practices in elementary education
- Ability to partner and communicate effectively with parents
- Collaborative professional nature
- Understanding of pedagogy and fostering intellectual growth
- Ability to cultivate meaningful relationships with multiple constituencies
- Excellent communication skills
- Cultural competence
- Positive, detailed-oriented team player with the ability to be self-directed
- Technological literacy

School Description:
